feel for the enthusiastic manner of this reception. We feel that the members of the two Conventions, however separate their paths may have been in the past, will march henceforth in one line [Applause.] We earnestly wish to accomplish the purposes of the war as we understood them—[applause]—the truly cordial, unconditional restoration of this Union. [Applause.] We have no sympathy for those purposes that have been falsely and dishonestly substituted by the Republican party for the avowed objects of the war. [Applause.] We care not for their dogmas of negro suffrage. We abhor their measure of white disfranchisement [Applause.] We look upon them as enemies of the Republic when we see them endeavoring, by means of that power which a great confiding people entrusted to them, to undermine and overthrow the settled foundations of our Government. [Applause.] We cannot, we shall not associate with them longer. [Applause.] We earnestly wish to associate with the great body of the Democracy North and South; [applause] with those against whom we fought during the war; [applause] with thousands who felt perhaps coldly in the North towards the Union cause while the war was going on; with all of those who won, cordially, as the established theory of the Constitution, that the Union is inseverable, and who will stand by and defend the Constitution as interpreted by the Government and the Supreme Court. [Applause.]

Since our meeting here we have had the pleasure of friendly intercourse with many of the most prominent Generals of the Confederate army. [Applause.] Knowing them to be men of honor, comparing views with them, and feeling that their views and our views as to the present and future policy of the Government coincide, we will take them by the hand as brothers, [applause] forgetting past issues and passions. We will recognize political enemies only in those who are plotting the overthrow of the Union of the States and our constitutional form of Government, and we will recognize political friends in all those who will sustain us in endeavoring to overthrow that party.

I thank you, gentlemen, for the very unexpected honor of being called upon to address you, and beg you will excuse me for this extempore effort. [Cries "go on."]

Three cheers were given for Gen. Thomas Ewing, Jr.

W. D. Turner, of Illinois, proposed three cheers for the soldiers and sailors of the army and navy represented by the Convention at Cooper Institute. Three cheers were given.

ANOTHER SHOWER OF RESOLUTIONS.

W. D. Dowsie, of California, offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the address of the Soldiers and Sailors' Convention, just read by the Secretary, be received and entered upon the minutes of our proceedings, and become a part of the proceedings of this Convention.

[illegible]

VOTE BY STATES.

[illegible]

A MOTION TO ADJOURN.

[illegible]

that resolution ... has already been decided three times in succession.

The President—The gentleman from Pennsylvania calls for a division of the question upon the ground that the resolution contains two distinct propositions. The first part of the resolution is "Resolved, That candidates for President be now placed in nomination," and the second "that no balloting be had until the platform is adopted." Mr. Bigler proposes now to vote upon the first branch, after which a vote will be taken upon the latter.

Mr. Bigler, of Pennsylvania—Mr. President, I will now withdraw my call for a division.

The question recurred on the resolution of Mr. Bigler. It was adopted, and the Convention took a short recess. Before the five minutes had elapsed, James Ponder, of Delaware, moved that the Convention do now adjourn.

A vote was taken by States, with the following result: Alabama, yeas 8; Arkansas, 5; California, 5; Connecticut, nays 6; Delaware, yeas 3; Florida, 3; Georgia, yeas 8, nays 1; Illinois, yeas 16; Indiana, nays 13; Iowa, yeas 6½, nays 1½; Kansas, yeas 3; Kentucky, nays 11; Louisiana, yeas 7; Maine, yeas 4, nays 2½; Maryland, nays 7; Massachusetts, yeas 12; Michigan, yeas 8; Minnesota, yeas 4; Mississippi, yeas 7; Missouri, yeas 6½, nays 3; Nebraska, nays 3; Nevada, yeas 3; New Hampshire, yeas 2, nays 3; New Jersey, yeas 4½, nays 2½; New York, yeas 33; North Carolina, yeas 6, nays 3; Ohio, yeas 21; Oregon, yeas 3; Pennsylvania, nays 26; Rhode Island, yeas 4; South Carolina, yeas 6; Tennessee, yeas 10; Texas, 6; Vermont, 5; Virginia, 10; West Virginia, 2½, nays 2½; Wisconsin, yeas 8. Total yeas, 209; nays 106.

The Convention then adjourned until Tuesday at ten o'clock.

A. J.—HIS BID.

A number of citizens of New York, on the 24th of June, addressed a letter to President Johnson, asking permission that his name be presented to the Democratic Convention as a candidate for the Presidency. Mr. Johnson replied as follows:

WASHINGTON, D. C. 1868.

GENTLEMEN: To your friendly inquiry whether, if deemed desirable for the preservation and unity of the conservative interests of the country, I would permit my name to be presented to the Democratic Convention as a candidate for the office of President of the United States, I would respectfully reply that I am not ambitious of further service—I may say, indeed of further endurance in the elevated and responsible position, unless by a call so general and unequivocal that it would be an indorsement by the people of my endeavors to defend the Constitution and the reserved rights of the several Commonwealths composing what was once in fact the Federal Union. Of such approval in the present temper of parties I can perhaps have no reasonable expectation. All history proves that men who, in official position, oppose for any reason the cherished schemes devised by factions to acquire power, usually and more determined assailants ... and earnest defenders; hence in resisting measures which, although sustained by Congress, I honestly believed to be encroachments upon the Constitution, my task has been made arduous and seemingly ungracious by an opposition powerfully well organized, and possessing a controlling influence in the halls of legislation unprecedented in the history of the country. Compelled to devote my entire time to the issues that have been forced upon me, and to contend against a majority represented by two-thirds of each house of Congress, I have been unable, while striving to protect and maintain the liberties of the people, to check extravagant expenditures for objects not contemplated by the Constitution, and to lighten the burdens of taxation which now rests so oppressively upon the nation. In the midst of these embarrassments I have not been discouraged when, from the public prints or from some unusually frank and outspoken friend, I have heard that I have no party, the suggestion has only served to remind me of a memorable remark uttered when faction ruled high in Rome, that Cæsar had a party, and Pompeii and Crœsus each had a party, but that the Commonwealth had none, aiming only as the representative of the people to stand by the rights of the Commonwealth. May I not pertinently make the application to my own case? Constrained in occupying my position as the Federal Executive to abide in silence wrongs and encroachments of the most insidious as well as defiant characters, or sometimes, when incapable of arresting them permitted only to employ futile protests; compelled with only the privilege of remonstrance, or the terrible alternative of a counter revolution, to resist revolutionary practices; obliged to stand in the attitude of a mere spectator whilst the invaluable time of the nation has been wasted in causeless assaults upon myself and office for the benefit of a party. I cannot complain of the people who, while witnessing, have not been able to make my cause thoroughly their own, the defense of the Constitution and laws their own battle. Until, however, the people's representatives will recognize more plainly the imperative need of the country, by lightening the burdens of excessive and onerous taxation, and preventing successive imposts upon the same article, beginning with its crude state and following the successive stages of manufacture to final use and consumption, the people being made to pay extortionately and ruinously these accumulated taxes; until the time appropriated in Congress to partisan schemes is devoted more to legislating for the people's wants, the nation will have to be content with the mere deliverance of promise of better times, [illegible]

[illegible]

I am, however, as I have ever been, in the hands of the people, and at their disposal. My struggle for the Union and the integrity of the government began long ago. [illegible]

SPECULATIONS.

It is the general belief that the Convention must continue in session two days, and possibly three days longer. The Platform Committee will report tomorrow morning, and a long discussion is anticipated, which may consume the entire day. Prominent members of the convention say thirty or forty ballots are likely to take place ere a candidate for President is nominated. The Pendletonians think they cannot gain their favorite, but have, it is conceded, power to prevent the nomination of any other man, and openly pronounce their hostility to Chase and Hendricks.

The Illinois delegation held a meeting at the Fifth Avenue Hotel to-night. [illegible]

The Ohio delegation continue enthusiastic for Pendleton. [illegible]

THE PLATFORM COMMITTEE

Have, at their sessions to-day, earnestly discussed the resolutions placed before them, but have come to no final decision upon the exact phraseology of the financial portion of the document. The East and West are widely at variance on the question.

SANFORD E. CHURCH

Declined to attend the Convention to-day.

FILIBUSTERING.

The proceedings in the Convention this afternoon on the subject of nomination of candidates excited interest. The parliamentary tactics displayed in defeating Hammond's motion by calls of the States and motions to adjourn are the theme of much talk.

DEMOCRATIC SOLDIERS AND SAILORS' CONVENTION.

Their Demonstration Yesterday.

PROCEEDINGS RATHER CONFUSED.

The Officers "Played Out" and the Boys In.

A Flood of Cheers and Motions.

The Address to the Democracy.

Extraordinary Proceedings and Nothing Done.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

NEW YORK, July 6, 1868.

The soldiers and sailors were not so fortunate in their demonstration to-day as on Saturday. The cut and dried programme having been played through by the officers, the boys took the thing in hand and executed the farce, and when these had inaugurated a high old time many of the officers joined in, and together they made the region about Cooper Institute ring, and brought some of the neighboring police upon the scene. The delegates met at Union Square and waited for the New Jersey delegation, when they all proceeded to their hall, passing by Tammany upon the route. Before marching between eighteen and nineteen hundred delegates, exclusive of those from New York and New Jersey, had registered, and to with the bands, some volunteer artillery and a dozen torn battle flags, the outside demonstration was very creditable, and more imposing than upon Saturday.

As soon as the crowd was seated Sergeant Bates in his velvet clothes, appeared and waved his flag for about five minutes, keeping time with the music of a band, until the convention appeared perfectly satisfied as to quantity.

The moment Bates stopped, and General Franklin called the body to order the scene began. Twenty gentlemen jumped up and shouted "Mr. President" so loudly as to confuse that worthy for a moment, and before he recovered far enough to recognize any one, the twenty had become forty, and nearly all the rest betook themselves to cheering for the various names proposed, from Andrew Johnson up and down the scale of conservatism, ending with three cheers for their departed comrades, which once given seemed to end the cheering business by common consent.

McClernand, by offering the usual motion of referring all resolutions to the Committee without debate, hoped he had stopped the flow of this kind of eloquence, but an amendment to have all read first was carried through by storm, and the flood began. The first man wanted the Convention to name Presidential candidates at once; the next thought all remembrances of the late bloody war should be put aside, and that Andrew Johnson was good, virtuous and wise, and ought to be specially thanked for the amnesty proclamation. One wanted the Convention to scout the use of the word "reconstruction" and substitute restoration, and then for a time so many were reading and shouting at once as to completely drown each other. After half an hour, a sailor discovered that in all the resolutions yet offered, no mention whatever was made of sailors, and by motion they were inserted in all after the word "soldier." The same accident happened to the sailors on Saturday.

A General Brown, of Missouri, who acted stupidly enough, was yet bright enough to carry through an order that "everybody who was on the platform and wanted to speak should come down among the rest of us," as he expressed it. Everything offered went through, and when the President, Secretaries and managers had given up all idea of securing order, General Slocum appeared with an address from the Committee on Resolutions to the Democratic Convention. This was attentively listened to and a committee appointed to present it to their allies at Tammany. This address the committee started was made on behalf of two thousand delegates, soldiers and sailors, who believed that co-operation with Democrats to put down Radicals was but a continuation of the old fight in the field. It claimed that the enemies of the Radicals were equal to those of the rebels. It arraigned the Radicals for favoring negro suffrage; for attempting to control the court of Impeachment; for denouncing those who were true to their oaths, and for other similar acts. It had besides taken the command of the army from the President and given it to Grant, who was using it to make himself President. It claimed that half a million soldiers and sailors were opposed to the party in power and half a million more who, though Republicans, would leave their party if the Democrats now in session would avoid dead issues and nominate a candidate whom they could support.

The address was milder than Campbell's resolution of Saturday, but was held to mean that a soldier ought to be placed on the ticket.

No sooner was this out of the way than the old storm burst out again. Franklin was obliged to withdraw, and a pompous Vice President took the Chair, and began as if his mere presence was sufficient to secure order. He was however, completely ignored.

Next a Secretary undertook to act as Chairman, but he was fairly hooted down. The scene was a lively one, six or eight were reading resolutions in various parts of the hall. As many more were trying to speak several had points of order to which they were endeavoring to call the attention of the chair, and every minute or two a cheer proposed by some disciple of merriment or confusion would break out.

On the platform a splendid pantomime was going on. The President was rapping with his club for order with one hand, and with the other alternately pointing out the man who was entitled to the floor and scratching his head in despair. In the few intervals of comparative quiet, an excited delegate got in a fierce speech denouncing the committee for referring to the brave men who fought us as erring brethren. On being asked what he would call them, he was too much confounded to answer. He had not thought as far as that, and was laughed down.

Next Hancock and Hendricks were proposed as a ticket. Then Andy was thanked again; then Confederate soldiers complimented; and then a gentleman, after having got as far as resolved some twenty times, was at last allowed to go further, as a sort of general reward for his persistency. He mounted the platform and began:

"WHEREAS, the political contests of the last twenty years"—

That was enough, and he was laughed, yelled and hissed down.

The leaders gave up in despair. The delegates began to leave and an adjournment was attempted, but there were far too many unread resolutions, and it could not be got through, and the uproar went on.

After a time Gen. Franklin came back and took the Chair, and at once with uplifted hands and waving cane, began to get those on the platform in order. It was a slow business, but was at length accomplished.

Meantime the great Convention was thoroughly disorganized, and the officers seemed to think it best to let the exuberance of spirits wear off.

After a time Gen. McQuade, of New York, succeeded in attracting attention and creating general silence at the proceedings. He then made a motion that the States be regularly called for resolutions, which was passed, and so all feeling sure they would get their productions in, ceased to interrupt any one else, and then came a great calm, and with it an avalanche of resolutions, many who had none setting about writing them on cards and all conceivable shaped papers, and small subjects connected with the war and questions growing out of it.

Andy was rethanked several times, and a committee of seven asked for to confer with the nominees of the Democratic Convention at once, to secure pledges that conservative soldiers and sailors should receive a fair share of patronage. A resolution that Ben Butler be not allowed to join the Democratic party, and one denouncing Congress for voting soldiers thirty-three dollars a year bounty, and themselves two thousand, excited universal groans. After the long call of the States was over, an adjournment till to-morrow was carried, when it is expected that the resolutions, to be reported by the Committee, will be adopted, and the Convention then adjourn to visit the body at Tammany. The leaders think they have made themselves felt by the Democrats, but that much more of such proceedings as those of to-day would neutralize it all.

Trial of Mowers and Reapers at Xenia.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

XENIA, July 6, 1868.

A trial of mowers and reapers, the most interesting trial of field implements ever held in the State, is now progressing near here. Sixteen machines are competing and attracting a large attendance. It will require days to decide their respective merits. Weather warm and little rain.

Severe Storm at Massillon.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

MASSILLON, Ohio, July 6, 1868.

The severe storm here yesterday did considerable damage. Houses were struck by lightning, trees uprooted by the wind, and many bridges and culverts washed away. Just south of here the canal is badly damaged, and navigation will probably be obstructed for a week. No damage north, so far as ascertained. The Atlantic Base Ball Club of Brooklyn plays here to-morrow.

Accident at Youngstown--Hot Weather.

Special Dispatch to Pittsburgh Commercial.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 6, 1868.

A miner named Jack Terrel, was run over near town by a freight train Saturday night. He was lying on the track intoxicated. The thermometer here yesterday was one hundred in the shade. No rain in this vicinity for over a month, and everything is parching up for want of it. B.

STATE NEWS.

Governor Geary and wife, Attorney General Brewster and Deputy Secretary of State I. B. Gara spent the Fourth in Erie.

In the Philadelphia Criminal Court on Friday, Judge Allison pronounced the death sentence on Alfred Alexander, alias Scotland, convicted of murdering his paramour Phillis Proctor. Same day, Judge Ludlow passed similar sentence on Esther Vaughn, convicted of murdering her illegitimate child. The latter states she was born in Olveston, Gloucestershire, England, and will be 23 years of age on the 25th of October next. She attended school before she was ten years of age; also a Sunday school of the Presbyterian church, and when ten years old, lived out at service, doing housework. She came to this country February 8, 1864, with her husband John Andrew Allison, to whom she was married August 3, 1862, and resided in Schuylkill county last, the place she does not recollect. She declares she does not know the name of the father of the child whose life she was convicted of having taken.

The corner stone of the new Court House at Tionesta was laid with appropriate ceremonies, the Masons and Odd Fellows officiating.

E McCarty, who murdered a man near Utica, Venango county, a short time since, has been arrested and is now safely lodged in jail at Franklin. He was captured near Girard, Pa., by two railroad men who knew him.

The Pennsylvania State Agency at Washington ceased after the 1st of July, the appropriation to pay for its support having been exhausted, while the necessity for its continuance had also ceased to exist.

Hon. Samuel Linn, President Judge of the Twenty-fifth Judicial District, having resigned, Governor Geary has appointed J. B. McEnally, Esq., to fill the vacancy.

Lightning Rods.

We have to-day examined one of the most perfect lightning conductors ever brought under our notice, and with our scientific men who have examined it, can bear witness to its masked excellence as being a perfect conductor and exceeds all others in amount of surface and capacity for safely carrying off the heaviest charges of electricity; the smallest sizes are equal to thirty and the largest to three hundred common rods. From the fact that statistics show near four hundred persons are killed annually, and half a million dollars worth of property destroyed by lightning, feelings of humanity alone are sufficient to induce us to recommend the best means to prevent such loss, and recommend property owners and those in charge of public buildings to examine Hall's Patent Copper Scroll Lightning Conductors, manufactured by Messrs. Wright & Howard, 124 Smithfield street, who have testimonials from many of our practical and scientific men of their excellence. Having been placed on many capitol and public buildings where introduced and withstood many severe tests without failing to protect the property on which they were placed, is sufficient guarantee of their excellence. Their price is within the reach of every man who owns a building.

New Testimony.

DR. ABORN 134 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh—Dear Sir: After having been partially deaf for near two years, which has increased so as to be quite annoying for the last six months, I have taken your medicine for one month, and believe my hearing is completely restored. The discharge from the ears, which was quite annoying and very profuse, seems to have entirely disappeared. Respectfully, Yours &c., M. S. A. McCRACKEN, Attorney at law and county Recorder.

Kinglake's Judgment on the Balaclava Charge.

The production of Mr. Kinglake's new volume on the Crimean war has set at rest the dispute concerning the mistaken charge at Balaclava. The story told by Mr. Kinglake exonerates Captain Nolan, who was killed by a shell in front of the brigade, and that while he was supposed to be directing to the heights instead of the valley. The blunder is shown to be one for which both Lord Lucan and Lord Cardigan are held responsible. Lord Cardigan was particularly anxious to know what Kinglake would say on the blunder that has made the cavalry charge immortal. He died when the volume was in type, which caused the proof reader, who was a testy Scot, to say, "damn him, he never did anything at the right time." The first order was to take any advantage to carry the heights. The second order to advance rapidly and prevent the enemy from carrying away the guns. Between the sending of the orders thirty or forty minutes elapsed. When Lord Lucan read the order he broke out in angry criticisms. He could see no guns. Nolan's notions were interpreted the valley:

"Angered by Nolan, and so confirmed in his bitter mistake, Lord Lucan rode to Lord Cardigan and ordered him to advance up the valley. As to the exact terms of this order there is a disagreement in the accounts of the two commanders, but it is immaterial ... Lord Cardigan's understanding of the order was made plain to Lord Lucan, for he answered Lord Lucan: 'Certainly, Sir; but allow me to point out to you that the Russians have a battery in the valley in our front, and batteries and riflemen on each flank.' Lord Lucan replied: 'I know it, but Lord Raglan will have it. We have no choice but to obey.'"

Thus the blunder is explained as much as history will ever give; but the character of Nolan is saved, and the bravery of Cardigan asserted.

The Custom House Building.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

It was no suprise to see Mr. J. W. Kerr acquit himself of the responsibility for defects in this building. But where that gentleman is known his reputation as an architect needs no defense.

But it is a different thing to find any leading influence interposing to prevent the Government from supplying our city with a building better adapted for a Postoffice than the section of the Custom House now occupied for that use. For, independent of defects of arrangements, the building cannot be made to afford room for the present needs of the Postoffice without regard to the rapidly increasing business of the institution, except by removing other offices and uses now occupying portions of the building, and offices, too, for which it was more especially designed.

It is not obvious to all your readers that objections, by whatever considerations suggested, to having a new Postoffice erected on another corner of Fifth street ought to be acquiesced in, if by so doing our city fails of obtaining a new building, which ought to be a great public convenience, and add, besides, to both ornament and value. The old Postoffice apartments might then be given over to the officers of the revenue, to whom it properly belongs. X.

Authors have their peculiarities: Longfellow can't make a speech; Tennyson is anything but the poet in his dress and habits; Washington Irving had a mortal dislike to the camera, and could seldom, if ever, be induced to sit for his picture. The picture of him with which the public is most familiar, representing him with his hand to his head, is a copy of an oil portrait, said to be the only picture ever made of him.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

MONDAY EVENING, July 6, 1868.

The money market for the past week has been gradually hardening. There is an increased inquiry for loans, and the rates are slightly advancing. It is the beginning of the season when the West draws largely on the East for funds to move the cereals and other products to the eastern seaboard. If it were not that capital has been in such superabundant supply at those commercial centers, the heavy demand just now commencing would more sensibly affect the market; but there has been such a plethora of idle capital there, that the change, as yet, is hardly felt. Business is without much animation. Now that our National Holiday has come and gone, it is believed that there will be more disposition to inaugurate new enterprises and embark in fresh ventures.

—The following statement exhibits the business of the Pittsburgh Clearing House for the week ending Friday, July 3d:

	Exchanges.	Balances.
June 29	[illegible]	[illegible]
June 30	[illegible]	[illegible]
July 1	[illegible]	[illegible]
July 2	[illegible]	[illegible]
July 3	[illegible]	[illegible]
Totals	$1,792,230 44	$203,160 72

—Gold has advanced a point or two to-day. Its fluctuations were from 140¼@140¾, closing firm with a tendency to higher figures.

—The New York Railway Share market was dull in the morning, but toward the close several leading shares advanced from 1 to 2 per cent. Northwest preferred opened at 81¾ and closed at 82¾. Rock Island sold up to 106¾. Pittsburgh touched 87¾.

The following comparative statement, furnished by J. W. Kennedy, Broker, 80 Fourth street, shows the range of prices for the past week at the New York Stock Boards:

[illegible]

—Governments opened steady, fell off a fraction, but recovered it again at the close. It is thought that the bill to tax the interest on bonds will pass the House, but that it will be killed in the Senate, probably, where it is looked upon as a mere set-off to the Democratic doctrine in regard to the bonds, merely gotten up for political capital. In the meantime, however, the bonds have declined more than one per cent. under its influence. We think the decline but temporary.

Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co. report the following quotations of Government bonds in New York to-day, as furnished them by Jay Cooke & Co., their correspondents:

[illegible]

James T. Brady & Co., Brokers, corner of Fourth and Wood streets, furnish the annexed comparative range of prices for government securities:

[illegible]

—The Erie difficulty has at length been amicably arranged. All suits against the Erie Company and the representatives of the Vanderbilt interest have been withdrawn, the counsel on both sides having formally notified each other to that effect. The terms of the settlement involve the retirement of two of the present Erie board—namely, Messrs. Whitney and Ramsdell—and the election in their stead of Messrs. Steward and Banker, of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railway Company. Ten millions of the common stock is to be withdrawn from the market, so as to leave the amount outstanding the same as before the issue this year of the hundred thousand shares of new stock, and this is to be retained in the custody of the Company and Mr. Vanderbilt, in certain proportions, under specified conditions. The settlement will, it is said, soon be followed by an advance in the rates of fare and freight on both the Erie and New York Central lines. There was an active demand for Erie all day, but it failed to respond materially to the change in the condition of affairs.

—There have been lately quite a number of eccentric movements engineered by the cliques, in some of the leading stocks, which have so demoralized the market as to lessen business materially. In the Reading corner, for instance, it is reported that many of the brokers are refusing to pay the alleged differences brought against them by the clique, as illegal, and the others are passing them to the credit of the chief operator who is in debt to them for considerable amounts. The affair is likely to be fruitful in legal and other complications.

—As regards the investment value of Reading, the following table which shows the "watering" of the stock, and the increase of the bonded debt, and the scrip and cash dividends paid thereon from 1845 to 1868 may be instructive:

Year.	Capital and Bonds.	Stock dividends	Cash dividends
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
		Stock..97	Cash..41

This table shows an increase of the capital and bonds from $7,000,000 to $50,000,000, and "watering" by 97 per cent. of stock dividends against 41 per cent. cash, in a period of twenty-five years. In the year 1847 the company's report showed net earnings of 15 per cent., and they declared 12 per cent. stock dividend, on the plea that they reserved the money to pay the bonds falling due in 1850, and yet in the face of this statement they showed the following year a floating debt of $1,400,000, for which $2,000,000 bonds were sold at 70 in 1848, and the stock was selling in the market at 22. These figures do not lead to the inference that Reading is exceptionally cheap at 100, as stated by the clique and their organs. That the crops will be large this fall, and traffic receipts will increase is more than probable, but the advance of 17 to 26 per cent. which has taken place in the clique stocks since April has discounted more than any increased value from increased receipts this fall.

—The Northwestern road earnings were for the fourth week in June:

1868	$364,937 37
1867	247,597 59
Increase	$117,337 78
WHOLE MONTH.
1868	$1,167,544 78
1867	893,648 13
Increase	$273,896 27

—James W. Kennedy, Broker, No. 80 Fourth street, (Apollo Building), dealer in United States Bonds, State and Municipal Securities, Railroad, Bank, Insurance and Miscellaneous Stocks. Being represented in the New York Stock Boards every day while in session, he purchases and sells on commission any stocks on the regular lists on the same terms as the New York brokers. Governments, gold and railway stocks purchased for customers on the usual margin.

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, MONDAY EVENING, July 6, 1868.

We have little of special interest to report in the commercial situation since the date of our last report. There appears to be a general lack of confidence throughout the channels of the produce and general markets in the stability of present values—everybody daily anticipating a lower range of prices—and hence business has become almost stagnated. Flour and wheat are at a stand still point, with every indication of a tumble in prices at an early day. New wheat is arriving freely from Tennessee and Northern Alabama. Bacon continues in fair request at previous prices. Groceries attract but little attention at present, although no change for lower rates can be looked for for some time to come, especially in coffee, sugar and molasses. All kinds of vegetables are abundant and drooping. The receipts of leading articles of produce are generally light but adequate to the demand at current prices. Vegetables are in good supply.

We quote the current wholesale store prices as follows:

BACON, LARD, ETC.—The demand continues fair, and we quote sugar cured hams 19½@19¾c; shoulders 13½c; rib sides 15½@16c; clear sides 17¾@18c; canvassed dried beef 21@22c; and lard in tierces 17½@17¾c ℔ ℔.

LARD OIL—Trade moderate at $1 40 ℔ gallon for extra No. 1, and $1 20 ℔ gallon for No. 2.

BUTTER—Stock of choice very small; receipts light and demand fair at 25@27c ℔ ℔ for choice packed.

EGGS—We quote at 21c ℔ dozen, although a few sales were made at 20c ℔ doz.

CHEESE—Sales of Western Reserve at 12½@13c; Hamburg at 13c, and Factory at 14@15c ℔ ℔.

DRIED FRUITS—Sales of 10 bbls choice dried apples at 6@6½c, and 5 bbls peaches at 11@12c ℔ ℔.

POTATOES—Sales 80 bbls new potatoes at $6@6 50 ℔ barrel. Small sales of old peachblows at $1 15@1 20 ℔ bush.

HAY—From scales we note sales of timothy hay at $15 00@22 00 ℔ ton, as to quality.

NEW APPLES—A few new apples have arrived from Baltimore, consigned to retailers at a cost of $15 ℔ bbl.

SALT—Small lots from store at $2 ℔ bbl, and to the trade we quote at $1 75@1 80 ℔ bbl.

GRAIN—Owing to the near approach of harvest, and the favorable reports of the growing crops, old wheat is not very active at $2 20@2 25 ℔ bush for red winter and white. The Pearl mills are already in receipt of 2,000 bush new Tennessee and Northern Alabama wheat delivered here at a cost of $2 35 ℔ bush, and large cargoes are on the way at a lower range. Prime yellow ear corn is in more demand and higher, and we quote from elevator and cars at $1 06@1 08 ℔ bush. We note a sale of 1 car shelled corn from elevator at $1 01 ℔ bush. There is some demand for rye. We note a sale of 2 cars delivered at $1 80 to distillery on the Monongahela river, ℔ steamer Active, shipper paying freight, and 60 bush delivered in city at $1 60 ℔ bush. From store 180 bush oats reported at 80c, but heavy dealers are well supplied, and are only offering 70@75c ℔ bush. From depot there was a sale of 250 bush at 75c ℔ bush. No barley offering.

FLOUR—The market ruled moderately active, notwithstanding the holiday just past. We notice new buyers coming in now for supplies. Wheat in the hands of farmers is nearly exhausted, but during the present week the reapers in this section of the country will commence to harvest the new crop, and in a short time we may look for new wheat and new flour from our own vicinity in this market. At present the Pearl mills are in receipt of several large cargoes of new Southern wheat, which is now being ground into flour. Holders of choice brands of flour are firm, and we quote fancy choice winter wheat brands $12, choice red winter $11@11 50, choice spring wheat flour, best on the market, $10 25@10 50, and medium grades $9 50@10 ℔ bbl. Rye flour we quote at $9 75 ℔ bbl.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, TUESDAY, July 7, 1868.

BUSINESS—The market was excited; prices have materially advanced; holders appeared to have matters all in their own hands, and are disposed to make good use of the same. A dispatch was received from Antwerp quoting oil at 50 francs, an advance of one franc since Saturday. This made holders jubilant. Eastern dispatches quote the market firm and excited. Philadelphia, prime light straw to white 34½c; standard white 35c; crude, including packages, 22½c; New York firm—prime light straw to white 33c; standard white 34c; crude, bulk, 16½c. Oil City market very firm, with strong upward tendency; holders firm at $6 ℔ bbl. In our own market we are furnished with the following operations:

CRUDE—Sales 500 bbls Smith's Ferry, spot, 15c; sales 500 bbls do, seller's option, first half July, 15c; sales 3,000 bbls, a line, buyer's option, 1,000 August, 1,000 do September, and 1,000 do October, 15c. This sale was made late on Friday evening. Sales 1,000 bbls at Oil City, 42 gallons to the bbl. August, buyer's option, $6 ℔ bbl; sales 1,500 bbls, spot, Oil City, 42 gallons to the bbl, $6 ℔ bbl; one lot of 5,000 bbls was offered at Oil City at $6 ℔ bbl for 42 gallons, one half of which were under negotiation, but had not been closed when we left the market.

REFINED OIL—Firm and wanted; sales 3,000 bbls standard white, Philadelphia, 500 each month from July to December, at 35c ℔ gallon; sales 3,000 bbls on the same terms and conditions; sales 1,000 bbls last half July, buyer's option, 35c; spot oil is held firmly at 34c.

BENZOLE—Sales 2,000 bbls at 15c, bbls included.

WOOL.

BOSTON.

There has been a fair demand for domestic wool during the past week, which, according to the Bulletin's report, has been met in a liberal spirit of concession and compromise on the part of sellers. The latter are disposed to close out their balance of old wool at very moderate figures, in view of the low opening prices of the new clip, and the probability that they will not be forced to a higher range as the season advances. [illegible]

[illegible]

In pulled wool, sales 2,000 ℔s New York super 45c; 1,000 ℔s Indiana do 45c; 2,000 ℔s super 32½@33½c; [illegible]

In Combing, sales 1,000 ℔s Maine selections 50c; [illegible]

Boston Iron Market.

The market for pig iron is quiet and steady at about previous rates. Foreign is in limited supply, and there are no cheap lots offering. Holders are very firm in view of the late advance in the English market, and the upward tendency of inward freights. Domestic pig metal, of the common grades, is in fair supply and slow of sale. But good brands of No. 1 are scarce and wanted. Those branches of manufacture which are just now most active, and have orders, are those which require a good quality of iron, and hence the better grades command relatively high prices. The importations this summer are likely to be small, and all the domestic iron produced will be wanted for consumption. The market for manufactured iron is quiet and without material change.

The Bulletin reports Scotch pig firm, with further sales of Gartsherrie and other brands No. 1, in small lots for consumption, at $[illegible] ℔ ton for the various brands. American is in moderate demand, with sales of retail lots at $[illegible] ℔ ton, for the different numbers Charcoal Pig is selling at $[illegible] ℔ ton, as to brand. Bar iron is in moderate demand at quotations, with sales of English and American, from store, at $[illegible] ℔ ton for common, and $[illegible] for refined. Rail and iron is in demand and firm, with sales at $[illegible] ℔ ton, gold, for English, and $[illegible] ℔ ton, currency, for American. Cast steel is selling at [illegible] for English, and [illegible] for American. Boiler plates are selling at [illegible] for flanges, [illegible] for C No. 1 and [illegible] for common and tank. Russia sheet is quiet but firm at [illegible], gold, and [illegible] currency. English and American do are selling at [illegible]. Nails are in good demand, with sales at [illegible] for assorted sizes. Old iron is in fair demand at $[illegible] ℔ 100 ℔s for cast; $1 75@2 for wrought scrap.

Petroleum at Boston.

The market is quiet but firm at the reduction last noted. Crude oil is in small supply at this point, and stocks in the interior and seaboard markets have been materially reduced of late. The constant advance in the European markets has caused a firm feeling in bonded oil, and an active demand for export is soon expected. Free refined oil is quiet as usual at this stage of the season. The Bulletin of Saturday reports crude firm, with sales at [illegible] ℔ gal, in bulk. Refined oil in bond is firmer, with sales at [illegible] gal. for Western, and [illegible] for Boston. Free oil is selling at a range of [illegible] gal. for Western and Boston, the outside rate for kerosene. Naphtha is in good demand at [illegible] gal as to gravity. Residuum is selling at $3 50@3 75 ℔ bbl.

Cincinnati Market.

CINCINNATI, July 6.—Flour dull; fancy $9 00@9 50. Wheat dull; held at $2 00@2 10 for No. 2 and No. 1, but these rates are above the views of buyers. Corn steady at [illegible] for ear, and [illegible] for shelled. Oats firm at [illegible] for No. 1. Rye dull at $1 63. Cotton buoyant under cable news, and higher; middlings held at [illegible]. Provisions generally firmer; mess pork sold at $27 50, but could not now be bought below $28 00 at the close. Bulk meats advanced to [illegible] for shoulders and [illegible] for sides, closing firm. Bacon advanced to 12c for shoulders, and [illegible] for sides. Lard advanced to 16c; demand light. Butter scarce and firm at [illegible]. Eggs firm at 17c. Potatoes plenty and dull at $2 75@3 00 ℔ bbl. Hemp declined to [illegible]. Groceries steady. Gold 140 buying and 140½ selling. Exchange dull at ⅓c discount buying.

St. Louis Market.

ST. LOUIS, July 6.—Tobacco quiet and unchanged. Cotton and Hemp—Nothing doing. Flour heavy, irregular and in favor of buyers; sales of super and extra at [illegible]; double extra $9 50@10; choice do XXX and fancy $10 50@12 75. Wheat declined 10@15c; good to prime fall $1 75@1 95; strictly prime to very choice $2 00@2 20; choice No. 2 Iowa spring sold at $1 50@1 72, and extra choice $1 75@1 75. Rye heavy and drooping at $1 35@1 38. Provisions firm and steady; pork sold at $27 75. Bacon very dull and scarcely anything doing; 13½c offered for shoulders and 16½c for clear sides, but held ½c higher. Lard dull at 18c for choice kettle in kegs.

New York Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Dry goods—The weather is hot, yet delightful, and trade is good for the season. The prices of cotton goods are improving. Heavy sheetings are half a cent higher; Atlantic A 18½c; all other makes from this mill are also half a cent higher, such as Pacific A brings 17½c; Bennington [illegible]; Amoskeag A inch 17c; Lawrence C 17c; do F 15½c; Cabasset [illegible]; Broadway 15c; Tremont C 15½c; Pittsfield A 13c; Stark brown drills 18½c; Pepperell and Laconia sell at the same price.

New York Cattle Market.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Beef cattle moderately active at last week's rates. Receipts of the week 5,962; offerings to day 2,915. Sheep in moderate inquiry; [illegible] prices lower, ranging at [illegible]; lambs quiet and lower, at [illegible]; receipts [illegible]. Hogs fairly active and firmer, at [illegible]. Receipts [illegible].

RIVER TELEGRAMS

Wheeling.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.

WHEELING, W. VA., July 6, 1868.

The steamer New State departed for Parkersburg. The local packets have commenced running again. The Greenback and Crane boats arrived, and after removing an old barge at the water works and a large stone on the creek bar, passed down. There were heavy rains last night and this afternoon. River raised eleven inches in the last twenty-four hours, with three feet nine inches, and rising. Weather hot. H.

River rising slowly with about eighteen inches of water in the channel. Weather warm and cloudy. C

Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, July 6.—The river fell thirteen inches up to yesterday morning, but since has risen nine inches; now eight feet eleven inches in the channel. Weather clear; thermometer 86; it was up to 98 on Saturday. There was a thunder storm from midnight till 6 A. M. Sunday, with very heavy rain.

RIVER NEWS.

RIVER NEWS.—The river, from the late rain, is perceptibly rising, with three feet of water in the channel, by the pier marks and continuing to rise.

The steamer Monitor, in consequence of the above rise, is loading freight for Marietta and intermediate ports, at the Parkersburg wharf boat, and will leave to-day sometime. For freight or passage apply to Jas. Collins, agent.

THE Missouri river is in excellent boating order.

THE pier marks on both bridges are sadly in need of painting.

THE steamer Belle Lee has laid up at Cairo. What will the Louisville papers say?

THERE is a good stage of water from Cairo to St. Louis.

THE steamer Stonewall made the trip from Omaha to St. Louis in four days.

THE Illinois river is falling, with five feet of water in the channel. The Richmond, from Louisville for New Orleans, is hard aground below Evansville, and was being lightened of cargo.

THE Sam. Gaty, sunk in the Missouri river, was insured in the Boatman's, Eureka and Central offices of Cincinnati for $2,000 in each. We understand, also, that the Tobacco Insurance Company had a risk of $5,000 on her cargo.

STEAMBOATS FOR SALE.—The Allegheny River Navigation Company offer for sale the steamer Echo No. 3 and Ida Rees No. 2. These boats are in good running order, and will be sold at a bargain. For further particulars see our advertising columns.

GET A GOOD SAW,

And Your Mill will do Good Work

Our Saws are Oil Tempered, Patent Ground, made to Run well.

You will find each Saw of one temper, no hard and soft spots in the same saw.

We accomplish this by our Patent Tempering Process, and you can not get this from any other saw maker, as we own the patents for the United States.

We do not claim to make a cheaper Saw than any one else, but one that will run at the word go, and will give no trouble, and will keep round longer; because being uniform with temper, it will not wear on one side faster than the other.
